News From Ms. Ashley, Week of February 19 - 21, 2018

Rodeo Week

Welcome to Rodeo Week! Sadly, I will not be here, but I have tons of wonderful things planned for the children!

- Monday – students will hear the story, “Cowpokes.” After, during centers, the kids will be making cowboy hats, and cowboy self-portraits (where they draw themselves, and we add a cowboy hat and boots!) In the afternoon, they will be decorating paper bag cowboy vests in a beautiful western theme.
- Tuesday – students will first listen to, “Big Moon Tortilla.” In centers, students will be making their sheriff badges, and will start making their handprint horses. During the afternoon, students will be finishing their horse craft by adding a background, hair, and the horse's face.
- Wednesday – students get to visit the UofA room, which will be filled with different cowboy themed centers. During centers, the children will be playing a game of “Brand the Cow,” (a version of pin the tail on the donkey), and students will be authoring a classroom book about being a cowboy! In the afternoon, students will be playing a carnival game of knocking over stacked cans, and finishing up all cowboy crafts and projects!

There are still available open time slots for, Love of Reading! Make sure to sign up, and enjoy some time in the class with your munchkin and their friends! ☺

Parent Tip: Are you worried about your child's handwriting? “Handwriting without Tears,” the handwriting program we are currently adapting into our school, has an app you can download right to your phone or tablet! When your little one is getting a little screen time, why not use it as an opportunity to work on those writing skills! ☺
